Section I

INTRODUCTION

On June 10, 2019, a two-vehicle accident reportedly occurred at the intersection of US Highway 165 and Highway 167 in Pineville, Louisiana. Mr. Dean C. Anderson was southbound and driving a 2003 Chevrolet Suburban, Louisiana license plate X150613. Mr. Jeffery L. Killian was westbound and driving a 2003 Ford F-250, Louisiana license plate C766030, towing a 2003 utility trailer, Louisiana license plate J533144. Ms. Brandy Banes was the front-seat passenger of the Ford. Both vehicles entered the intersection attempting to turn left. The left front of the Chevrolet contacted the left side of the trailer towed by the Ford (Photograph 1). Mr. Killian and Ms. Banes have claimed that they sustained injuries as a result of the accident.

Rimkus Consulting Group, Inc. (Rimkus) was retained to reconstruct the dynamics of the accident and to determine the motions and mechanisms that the Ford's occupants would have sustained, in relation to the injuries they have claimed. This report was reviewed by Marzieh Ardestani, Ph.D., Senior Consultant. The time Dr Richard Baratta spent on the conduct of this work is being invoiced at a rate of $445 per hour.

This report was prepared for the exclusive use of Cotten Schmidt, L.L.P., and was not intended for any other purpose. Our report was based on the information available to us at this time, as described in the Basis of Report. Should additional information become available, we reserve the right to determine the impact, if any, the new information may have on our opinions and conclusions and to revise our opinions and conclusions if necessary and warranted.

Section II

CONCLUSIONS

1. The engagement occurred between the Chevrolet and the Ford's trailer, and there was no direct contact between the Chevrolet and the Ford. The Ford was coupled to the trailer via a hitch connection. This type of connection has limited ability to transmit dynamic motions to the Ford, as it would tend to yaw about the hitch and transmit forces primarily in the longitudinal direction. Thus, the motions of the Ford would have been significantly dampened in relation to the trailer or the Chevrolet.
2. The body of the Ford experienced at most an overall acceleration on the order of 2 g (where 1 g is the acceleration due to Earth gravity) with the body acceleration of occupants would be less than 2 g. These accelerations would be vibrational in nature, and would have a character similar to a sideswipe, but with a shorter time duration.
3. Occupants of the Ford would have experienced minor motions within the vehicle. As Chevrolet contacted the left side of the Ford's trailer, its occupants' initial movement would have been toward the left, followed by a rightward return them to their neutral seated position prior to the impact. The accelerations would be well within levels experienced during routine activities of daily living.
4. The loads that the spinal tissues of the occupant of the Ford would have undergone would be well within what would have been experienced during routine activities of daily living. Spinal strains and sprains would not be consistent with the dynamics of this accident.
5. There were no mechanisms in the accident that could account for structural injuries to the occupants' spine or structural aggravation to any pre-existing degenerative changes to the spine. Therefore, disc herniation or bulging would not be consistent with resulting from the mechanics of this accident.

6. There is no mechanism in the dynamic of the subject accident that accounts for rotator cuff injury, tendinosis, or aggravation to pre-existing shoulder impingement.

Section III

DISCUSSION

Observations

Photographs of the Ford's trailer describe the trailer as a bumper pull trailer with tandem axle and slide-in ramp. Photographs show indentation to the left side of the trailer and close to the left front axle; in addition, the left-rear tire was obviously cambered-in, indicating damage to the rear axle (Photograph 2). There also appeared to be scuffs to the left-front tire sidewall of the trailer. The trailer was also inspected by James G. Sprader, P.E., on October 26, 2020.

There was overall deflection along the left side of the trailer, which appeared to be more localized around the left front axle, and above the tire with an approximate size of one foot long and a half-inch depth. There was also indentation in the left-front bearing cap. No other damages were observed on the trailer (Photographs 3 through 5) at the time of the inspection.

A repair estimate was obtained on June 12, 2019, from Active Steel Welding and Repair Inc., located at 6031 Bayou Rapides Road in Alexandria, Louisiana. This repair estimate approximated $6,800 to repair the subject trailer. There was no itemized list of replacement parts nor an assessment of labor hours in this repair estimate. The subject Ford reportedly had no bodily damage except for minor damage to the connecting leaf springs, which according to Mr. Killian's sworn testimony, were repaired by Mr. Killian. There was no repair estimate available for the Ford. The published curb weight of the subject Ford is 5,210 pounds. A 2003 Ford F-250 has an airbag control module (ACM) equipped with event data recorder (EDR) capability to collect data from some collisions. Given that there was no engagement of the Ford in this accident, there would be no benefit to attempting to image data from its ACM.

There was one photograph available from the subject Chevrolet, which showed damage to the front grille, as well as an indentation in the left corner of the front bumper, with possible damage to the left headlight assembly (Photograph 6). No other damages were reported for the Chevrolet. No repair estimate was available for review. The published curb weight of the 2003 Chevrolet Suburban was 5,760 pounds with the top edge of the front bumper listed at a height of 29 inches. The Chevrolet also had an ACM equipped with EDR capability, designed to store pre-crash data typically at a 1-second sample rate for 5 seconds and up to 150 milliseconds of velocity change post-impact. However, if a crash event did not result in airbag deployment, this could be classified as a non-deployment event. The subject Chevrolet would clear non-deployment events from memory after 250 ignition cycles. Therefore, there would be no benefit to attempting to image the data contained within the Chevrolet's ACM.

Review of Mr. Killian's Testimony

Mr. Jeffery Killian gave a deposition on March 5, 2020. He testified that he was born on January 29, 1975. Mr. Killian stated he used to work as a truck driver and skid driver in the wood industry hauling log woods. His job responsibilities involved loading and unloading wooden logs for which he used specific equipment. He also stated that he was employed at Security Metal, a roofing company, at the time of the subject accident. His job responsibilities at Security metal involve supervising other staff and creating schematic drawings from a building. He continued his employment at Security Metal after the accident until December 3, 2019, when he took off work for seven weeks to undergo shoulder surgery. He then returned to work for Security Metal on January 29, 2020. Dr. Paul Fenn performed shoulder surgery for the purpose of rotator cuff and biceps repair.

Mr. Killian testified that the subject accident occurred on June 10, 2019, and at the intersection of US Highway 165 and Pineville Expressway. The Chevrolet failed to stop at the red light and slid to Mr. Killian's trailer and contacted the left front axle. Mr. Killian's vehicle then slid sideways for about 15 feet. Mr. Killian claims that the leaf springs on the trailer were broken and the front axle of the trailer was bent as the result of this accident.

Mr. Killian's trailer was loaded with a riding lawnmower and a Yamaha UTV (utility task vehicle) four-wheeler. According to Mr. Killian, the hitch connection between the truck and trailer was damaged. However, he was able to fix it himself. His pick-up truck was drivable after the accident, but his trailer was towed away from the accident scene and was never repaired.

Mr. Killian stated that the day after the subject accident, he contacted his lawyer who then scheduled a medical examination with Paul Fenn, M.D. (Dr. Fenn) for him. Mr. Killian also testified that he presented to Lemoine Physical Therapy for chiropractic treatment prior to his appointment with Dr. Fenn. According to Mr. Killian, Dr's, Fenn, Brennan and Rogenmoser have been his main treating physicians. Mr. Killian continues to go to physical therapy two days a week concerning injuries to his neck, shoulder, and arm. Mr. Killian also stated that he had pre-existing conditions in his right arm including carpal tunnel syndrome, but he was not aware of the issue until after the accident.

According to Mr. Killian, he had been involved in three prior accidents but he had not been injured in any of them. He does not remember the details of those accidents. One accident was in November of 2009, and the other was in June or July of 2019, or 2018. The other accident was in 2007, but he has no recollection of that. Additionally, Mr. Killian has had a prior incident where he fell off a horse in 2012, and broke his hip. He did not have surgery for that hip fracture, but he had to use a wheelchair and walker for a while.

Review of Ms. Banes' Testimony

Ms. Brandy Michelle Banes gave a deposition on March 5, 2020. She stated she was born on April 30, 1984, and she is a certified nursing assistant.

According to Ms. Banes she was employed at Cenla Power Sports at the time of the accident but she was unable to maintain her employment due to the nature of her injuries resulting from the subject accident on June 10, 2019. Ms. Banes stated she does not remember when she has quit employment, but she has been unemployed since then. She also claimed that she is unable to seek employment as a result of her injuries in the subject accident. Ms. Banes claimed injuries in her neck, lower back, and right shoulder. She stated that William Brennan, M.D., (Dr. Brennan), and Dr. Fenn have been her treating physicians since the date of the accident and she is medically cleared to return to work, but she is unable to seek employment, as she has to continue physical therapy three times per week.

According to Ms. Banes, their vehicle was stopped at the red light of the intersection and when the light turned green, they began turning left to US Highway 165 northbound and that is when Chevrolet contacted the left side of their trailer. When asked to explain the damage, Ms. Banes stated that the springs underneath of their pickup truck were damaged. According to Ms. Banes, the trailer hitch was not damaged, but it was the springs underneath the truck that were damaged.

When asked about the traveling speed, Ms. Banes stated they had just taken off the red light and they were not speeding at the time of the accident. She also stated that the trailer was towed away but their pickup truck was drivable, and they removed it from the accident scene. Ms. Banes stated that she began experiencing pain in her neck the day after the accident, and thus, she called a lawyer who then scheduled an initial appointment for her with Dr. Fenn. Ms. Banes also stated that she initially received physical therapy at Lemoine Therapy prior to her appointment with Dr. Fenn. She continues to see Dr. Fenn concerning her lower back injury and she is scheduled to receive a steroid shot on March 16, 2020. According to Ms. Banes, Dr. Fenn has explained it to her that he will try steroid injections and if it does not help, she is a candidate for lower back surgery. Ms. Banes also testified that she has undergone neck surgery at Surgical Specialty Hospital in Lafayette. Dr. Brennan has operated on her neck in October of 2019. She has no further plan to follow up treatment with Dr. Brennan.

Ms. Banes denied any prior injury to her lower back, neck, or shoulder. She also stated that she had two prior accidents involving one where she was a passenger in a silver Dodge, and they swerved to miss a pack of hogs and they went off into woods. In the second accident, she was the driver and she hit a deer on Highway 165 in Pollock Louisiana.

When asked to describe her neck injury, Ms. Banes claimed that she was unable to move or turn her neck prior to the surgery. She was unable to sit up, and feed, or drive. She was unable to do anything. She also stated that despite neck surgery, she still experiences pain in her neck and in lower back daily and she is unable to function as she used to prior to the subject accident.

Review of Mr. Killian's Medical Record

The day after the subject accident, Mr. Killian presented to Stephen LeBlanc, PT at Lemoine Therapy in Alexandria concerning pain in his right shoulder and neck along with numbness in his right upper arm. Mr. Killian then received six physical therapy sessions between June 11, 2019, and March 5, 2020.

Between June 25, 2019, and November 25, 2019, Mr. Killian presented to Dr. Fenn concerning pain in his neck, lower back, right shoulder, and right arm, as well as headaches. He was diagnosed with strains of the cervical spine and joint derangement in the right shoulder. Mr. Killian was further diagnosed with impingement syndrome of the right shoulder and carpal tunnel syndrome as well as ulnar collateral ligament sprain in his right thumb.

On July 17, 2019, Mr. Killian visited MR Imaging Systems for radiographic imaging of his right shoulder and cervical spine, which were interpreted by Maximo Santiago, M.D. The images were interpreted as showing disc protrusion at C3-4, osteophytes at C4-5, as well as disc space narrowing, neural foraminal stenosis, facet hypertrophy, and osteophyte in C5-7 and C7-T1. A mild level of disc bulging was also reported at C6-7.

The images of Mr. Killian's right shoulder were interpreted as showing degenerative osteoarthritis, changes within acromioclavicular (AC) joint with mild rotator cuff tendinosis, and partial intrasubstance subscapularis tendon tear, possibly associated with impingement syndrome. Images did not show any fracture or dislocation in Mr. Killian's cervical spine, nor in his right shoulder.

On November 25, 2019, Mr. Killian visited MR Imaging Systems for radiographic imaging of his right hand, which was interpreted by Stephanie Casey, M.D. The images were interpreted as showing no malalignment or dislocation but tenosynovitis of flexor pollicis longus tendon of thumb as well as mild osteoarthritis at 1st CMC joint of the thumb.

On December 3, 2019, Mr. Killian visited Lafayette Surgical Specialty Hospital to receive a surgical operation on his right shoulder performed by Dr. Fenn. The surgical operation was for the purpose of repairing the right shoulder impingement, rotator cuff, as well as right carpal tunnel syndrome.

On June 3, 2020, Mr. Killian presented to Open Air MRI for radiographic imaging of his cervical spine, which was interpreted by John Higgins, M.D. Radiographic images were interpreted as showing degenerative changes including disc space narrowing and facet arthropathy, as well as neural foraminal narrowing at C6-7.

On June 15, 2020, Mr. Killian underwent anterior cervical discectomy and fusion (ACDF) surgery, performed by Dr. Brennan at C5-7.

Between December 12, 2020, and May 28, 2020, Mr. Killian had five additional post-surgical visits with Dr. Fenn in association with the surgery on his right shoulder. Dr. Fenn's notes documented occasional pain, improved range of motion, and positive progress related to Mr. Killian's right shoulder.

Review of Ms. Banes' Medical Records

The day after the subject accident, Ms. Banes presented to Stephen LeBlanc, PT at Lemoine Therapy concerning pain in her right shoulder and neck, as well as headaches. Between June 11, 2019, to February 12, 2020, Ms. Banes had a total of eight physical therapy sessions at Lemoine Therapy. Mr. LeBlanc's notes of February 12, 2020, documented that Ms. Banes came back with complaints of low back injuries along with "other spinal injuries" and right hip pain.

Between June 13, 2019, and November 8, 2019, Ms. Banes had a total of four visits with Dr. Fenn concerning muscle weakness, neck pain, and lower back pain. Ms. Banes was then diagnosed with cervical strain with radiculopathy and lumbar radiculopathy. During the follow-up visits of July 19, 2019, October 3, 2019, and November 8, 2019, Ms. Banes presented to Dr. Fenn with additional complaints of right shoulder pain.

On July 1, 2019, Ms. Banes visited MRI Imagine Systems for radiographic imaging of her cervical and lumbar spine that was interpreted by Richard Partin, M.D. The images of the cervical spine were interpreted as showing multilevel osteophyte and desiccation, loss of disc height at C5-6 and C6-7, multilevel spondylosis, and neural foraminal stenosis. The images of the lumbar spine were interpreted as showing no fracture or subluxation, but rather multilevel spondylosis with small central disc protrusion, and mild right neural foraminal stenosis at L4-5 and L5-S1.

On July 16, 2019, Ms. Banes presented to William Brennan, M.D. with chief complaints of neck pain, right shoulder pain, and right thoracic pain. Dr. Brennan interpreted the radiographic imaging of July 1, 2019, as showing disc herniation in Ms. Bane's cervical spine. Ms. Banes was then scheduled for Anterior Cervical Discectomy and Fusion (ACDF) surgery at C5-7.

On July 24, 2019, Ms. Banes visited MR Imaging Systems for radiographic evaluation of her thoracic spine and right shoulder, which were interpreted by Maximo Santiago, M.D. The images of the thoracic spine were interpreted as showing no spondylolisthesis or fractures, no disc bulges or protrusions, no spinal or neural foraminal stenosis. Disc bulging was reported at C5-C7 along with degenerative spondylosis.

Images of the right shoulder were interpreted as showing no fracture or labral tear, but mild supraspinatus tendinosis without a tear. Subcortical cystic changes along the posterolateral aspect of the humeral head were also reported for Ms. Banes's right shoulder.

On September 26, 2019, Ms. Banes visited Open Air MRI for repeated radiographic evaluation of her cervical spine that was interpreted by John Higgins, M.D. The images of the cervical spine were interpreted as showing no acute fracture, dislocation, or any acute destructive process. Images also were interpreted as showing degenerative arthritis changes in C5-7 with symptoms including decreased disc space height.

On October 7, 2019, Ms. Banes underwent ACDF surgery at C5-7. The surgical operation was performed by Dr. Brennan at Lafayette Surgical Specialty Hospital. Post-operation radiographic imaging of Ms. Banes's cervical spine were taken on October 18, 2019, and were interpreted by John Higgins, M.D. as showing no acute fracture, dislocation, or abnormal changes as compared to pre-operation.

Between October 18, 2019, and January 14, 2020, Ms. Banes had a total of four post-operative follow-up visits with Dr. Brennan who documented continued complaints of neck pain despite surgical improvement in radicular symptoms of Ms. Banes's neck.

Between January 23, 2020, and May 28, 2020, Ms. Banes had an additional five visits with Dr. Fenn. On January 23, 2020, Ms. Banes stated she has no pain in her right shoulder. On March 5, 2020, Ms. Banes presented with increased lower back pain during long walks with no numbness and tingling. On March 16, 2020, Ms. Banes received bilateral transforaminal epidural steroid injection (ESI) at L4-5 and L5-S1 from Dr. Fenn. Notes of the follow-up visit on April 2, 2020, documented improvement in pain but without complete resolution. On May 28, 2020, Ms. Banes reported increased lower back pain since going back to the gym.

Accident Reconstruction

Accident reconstruction applies a scientific approach to the evidence available in order to determine the dynamics of an incident with the purpose of finding facts related to vehicle positions, relative speeds, and vehicle damage. Within the context of this analysis, an accident cause analysis and at-fault determination were not conducted. Further, the accident reconstruction was limited to the point in time immediately before to immediately after the vehicle-to-vehicle contact in order to determine the forces and motions of the vehicle to support the subsequent biomechanical analysis.

The damage to the Chevrolet indicates that the left end of the front bumper struck the left side of the trailer. The trailer would have then yawed (spun) counterclockwise (viewed from above), rotating over its hitch connection with the Ford. This would limit the dynamic forces and accelerations that the trailer's motions could impart over the Ford.

In order to assess the dynamics that would be applied to the Ford by the contact between the trailer and the Chevrolet, a series of mathematical simulations of the circumstances of the accident were performed to assess the dynamics of the accident. The Engineering Dynamics Simulation Model of Automobile Collisions (SIMON) simulation module was used for the collision event analysis. SIMON is a commercially available simulation package developed by Engineering Dynamics Corporation (EDC) that is implemented within the Human Vehicle Environment (HVE) software program. SIMON is a forward-projection simulation program where the initial speeds, vehicle orientation, steering inputs, throttle inputs, braking inputs, and inertial properties are inputs to determine the resulting vehicle trajectories and dynamics. These methodologies are accepted within the scientific community and widely used and accepted by collision reconstructionists to determine various parameters of vehicle dynamics during collisions and have been extensively validated.

Inertial properties, including vehicle mass and moments of inertia, were adjusted to specific values of the subject vehicles. Dimensions of the trailer were obtained from the inspection and trailer's weight was adjusted to represent the approximate weight of its load at the time of accident including a riding lawn mower (between 300 to 600 pounds) and a Yamaha UTV four-wheeler (between 400 to 700 pounds). Simulations were repeated for several possible loading scenarios to cover a range of different weights up to 5,600 pounds (trailer's gross weight) and various deviations of its center of gravity after being loaded with the lawnmower and Yamaha UTV.

Simulations were completed for several possible braking scenarios (foot staying on the brake versus foot coming off the brake) and braking effort (normal braking, versus forceful braking) for subject Ford. The vehicle dynamics were assessed based on an impact speed of 20 mph for the subject Chevrolet and 15 mph for the subject Ford, consistent with the uniform motor vehicle crash report. Based on these calculations, the longitudinal and lateral accelerations of Ford, and maximum depth of damage, were compared with the subject accident. Based on all these comparisons, the subject Ford would have experienced accelerations lateral acceleration of less than 2g. This would be experienced as vibration and shaking on the vehicle suspension, with no net motion on the roadway.

Because the accelerations were vibrational in nature, the very concept of delta-V that is used to assess vehicle dynamics in other types of accidents would not be applicable to this type of incident.

Biomechanical Analysis

The objective of the biomechanical analysis was to assess the inertial forces generated by the subject accident on the occupant tissues and the consistency of those forces with the mechanisms associated with the injuries claimed to have resulted from the accident. Biomechanics is a scientific field that studies human movement using principles of mechanics and applied anatomy. In applying this discipline, acute tissue injury represents a mechanical overload associated with specific mechanisms of injury that have been established by the peer-reviewed scientific literature. With regard to the subject accident, the vehicle dynamics analysis in the above Accident Reconstruction section is then used to determine the vehicle occupant kinematics and the resulting mechanisms and loads that the tissues would have undergone.

The Ford underwent vibrational accelerations that were generally but shorter in duration to the types of vibrational motions that are experienced in a sideswipe. In this accident,

Ford was determined to experience a lateral acceleration of less than 2g. However, the acceleration of occupants are damped by the coupling of the occupant's mass and the seats and are reduced by 60 percent (%) in relation to those of the vehicle. Therefore, the Ford's occupants would have experienced peak accelerations of, at most, 1.2 g. This is very well within levels of acceleration that individuals would undergo during routine activities of daily living and well within levels considered safe for humans. In studies where human volunteers have been exposed to sideswipes of varying severity, and most substantially more severe than the subject accident, no subject has reported any symptoms at all. Therefore, structural injuries to the body tissues would not be reasonably expected.

Ms. Banes was diagnosed with disc herniations at C5-7. In Accidental Injury, Yoganandan, Nahum and Melvin eds., the authors report that, "disc ruptures from a single loading event are highly unlikely based on biomechanical studies. . . Early researchers noted that the vertebral body broke before the adjacent disc incurred any damage." The peer-reviewed literature that systematically addressed the mechanisms of loading that result in specific injuries to spinal structures indicated that disc bulges and herniations were not likely to occur in a brief event in the absence of bony fractures unless there were mechanisms involving at least hyperflexion coupled with compression. Pure compressive loads created fractures in the vertebral endplates; torsional and shear loads yielded fractures of the facets; and tensile loads and hyperflexion/hyperextension of the spine resulted in the tearing of the spinal ligaments – all at levels lower than that required to damage the disc. Only in combined loading, during which the spine was in hyperflexion and subjected to a sudden compressive load, were traumatic disc prolapses from a single event produced. Ms. Banes would not have been exposed to hyperflexion or any significant compressive loads. The subject accident presented loads to Ms. Banes' cervical and lumbar spine that were less than those she likely experienced during the events of the day leading up to and after the accident (Figures 1 and 2). The mechanism for traumatic disc herniation was not present during the subject accident.

Furthermore, Mr. Killian was diagnosed with disc bulging at C6-7 with no acute fracture or dislocation. Noteworthy for Mr. Killian, disc bulging has been reported in conjunction with other degenerative symptoms including disc space narrowing, disc desiccation, osteophyte formation, and stenosis. The specific mechanism for degenerative disc bulging is chronic exposure to repetitive loadings, such as in occupational lifting. This is consistent with Mr. Killian's occupation in the wood industry. More specifically, Luoma et. al. studied more than 160 subjects and reported an increased risk of posterior and anterior disc bulges among carpenters and machine operators, respectively. Huang et. al. investigated the dose-response relationship between lifetime cumulative lifting load and disc degenerative disease, including disc bulging in more than 500 participants. This study reported participants exposed to intermediate lifting loads had an increased odds ratio of 2.1 for bulging compared with others with low lifting loads.

Most often, disc bulges develop as a result of repetitive loading over many years as part of the natural aging and degeneration process and often are not associated with any symptoms or pain. As discs degenerate, bulges and protrusions can lead to the narrowing of the spaces occupied by the spinal cord and exiting nerve roots and cause crowding and deformation of these sensitive tissues. Additionally, changes in the force distribution throughout the spine in response to altered disc mechanics initiates an active bone response that can accumulate and act to narrow the central canal or neural foramen. Biomechanics research has also shown that a previously degenerated disc is not necessarily more prone to traumatic injury than a healthy disc. Degenerated discs may be stable and become more difficult to herniate than healthy discs, as the degeneration process is associated with the thinning and calcification of the disc and the desiccation of the paste-like, inner material of the disc (nucleus pulposus).

The subject accident presented loads to Mr. Killian's cervical spine that were less than those they likely experienced during the events of the day leading up to and after the accident. No progression or structural aggravation to the already present degenerative condition of his spine is likely to have occurred as a result of the subject incident (Figure 3)

Both Ms. Banes and Mr. Killian stated that they have experienced injuries to their right shoulder while the vehicle swung sideways. Their description of sway is not consistent with the nature of this accident. When the Chevrolet made contact with the left side of their trailer, Ms. Banes and Mr. Killian's initial movement within the vehicle would have been to the left side according to Newton's first law and their body inertia. This left swing would be then followed by a return motion to the right, wherein occupants would return to their neutral seated position prior to the impact. This subsequent motion would be smaller than the initial one as body's musculature become activated and restrains body movement.

During the first phase swing to the left, Mr. Killian's left shoulder could have made slight contact with the inner driver door panel and possibly B-pillar. Considering Ms. Banes was seated in the front passenger seat, she would not have made any contact with the vehicle interior on her left side. Therefore, complaints of right shoulder pain are not consistent with the mechanisms of this accident.

Additionally, Ms. Banes has been diagnosed with mild supraspinatus tendinosis without tear. Repeated imaging of Ms. Banes' right shoulder did not show any acute fracture, dislocation, or subluxation. Tendinosis, in the absence of any other acute structural damage, is a chronic condition, related to degenerative wear and tear of the supraspinatus tendon. This is consistent with Ms. Banes pre-existing rheumatic condition reported in her medical records. Therefore Ms. Banes' right shoulder tendinosis is not consistent with the dynamic of this accident.

Mr. Killian has also been diagnosed with mild rotator cuff tendinosis and partial tear, right carpal tunnel syndrome, as well as shoulder impingement, and osteoarthritis in the AC joint. The mechanism for rotator cuff tear would be abduction combined with external rotation of the shoulder, similar to a baseball pitch wind up movement. There is no mechanism in the subject accident to create this combined motion in Mr. Killian's shoulder. Moreover, impingement is a chronic condition associated with structural damage and reduced sub-acromial space around the Supraspinatus tendon. This is consistent with the presence of osteoarthritis in Mr. Killian's AC joint as bone spurs grow in the subacromial space, creating compression at the bursa, and the tendons by reducing the clearance within the anatomic space.

In short, The contact in this accident was between the Chevrolet and the trailer and would have transmitted simple vibrational motions to the Ford, with no net change in speed or position on the roadway. The motions of the Ford would have been analogous to a sideswipe and the vehicle would have sustained mild accelerations, slightly above levels experienced during driving. There is little reasonable expectation of structural damages to body tissues due to the mechanics that the Ford's occupants would have sustained in this accident.

The methods used and studies cited in this report are relevant to the biomechanics of human motion and injury mechanisms resulting from accidental events. Biomechanics is the application of principles and methods of engineering mechanics to the study and solution of problems arising in biology and medicine. The science of injury biomechanics is fundamentally different from that of medicine in that it does not offer diagnoses, treatment, or prognoses but instead addresses the relationships between events and damage to tissue by studying the physics of accidental events, the properties of tissues, and the application of loads to tissues in accidental events. This is a discipline widely accepted within the scientific community; injury biomechanics forms the basis for the safety aspects of vehicle interior design and for the rules and regulations that govern the crashworthiness of vehicles. In this particular case, the application of biomechanics principles explains the motions of the occupant within the vehicle during the accident, the nature of the loads and mechanisms experienced by the tissue, and the potential for those loads and mechanisms to result in damage or failure to tissue. These methods have been tested and have yielded consistent results in the articles cited in the Basis of Report and others. The methods used in these reports can be verified experimentally by using the same methodologies.

BASIS OF REPORT

The following materials were reviewed and tasks were performed during the course of our work:

1. State of Louisiana Uniform Motor Vehicle Crash Report from, report No. #190610225728438 was reviewed
2. Ten (10) photographs of the Trailer were reviewed.
3. One (1) photograph of the Chevrolet were reviewed
4. A repair estimate for the Trailer prepared by Active Steel Welding and Repair Inc., on June 12, 2019, was reviewed.
5. Autostats dimensional data for Ford and Chevrolet was reviewed.
6. The trailer was inspected by James Sprader, PE, of Rimkus on October 26, 2020 .
7. The transcript of Mr. Killian's deposition, taken on March 5, 2020, was reviewed
8. Medical records for Mr. Killian were reviewed.
9. The transcript of Ms. Banes' deposition, taken on March 5, 2020, was reviewed
10. Medical records for Ms. Banes were reviewed.

Curriculum Vitae

October 30, 2020

Rimkus File No. 100037098

Richard V. Baratta, Ph.D., P.E.

Senior Vice President
Biomechanical Division

Background

Dr. Baratta holds a B.S. degree in Biomedical Engineering and Mathematics and an M.S. and Ph.D. in Biomedical Engineering.

Dr. Baratta's experience has included multiple aspects of orthopedic, facial and spinal biomechanics and rehabilitative engineering and research. He has an extensive publication record addressing basic, applied, and clinical orthopedic topics, and has performed collaborative research with other intramural departments and outside academic and industrial institutions. He has experience in the development, clinical implementation and writing of FDA submissions for a paraplegic ambulation device. Dr. Baratta taught biomechanics to orthopedic surgeons seeking recertification.

His primary areas of consulting expertise include injury consistency biomechanics, accident reconstruction, medical device failures and intellectual property. As a forensic investigator, Dr. Baratta performs biomechanical analyses on cases involving low-speed accidents, driver determination, falling objects, slip and falls, amusement rides, and other accidental events. He has reconstructed accidents involving low-speed accidents, high-speed fatality collisions, pedestrian accidents, vehicle rollovers and other types of accidents.

Dr. Baratta also provides expertise in relation to modified, high performance and racing automobiles, and high-performance vehicle occupant protection systems and injury analysis. Dr. Baratta is fluent in English and Spanish and has testified in both depositions and trials in the U.S. and Mexico.

Professional Engagements

• Research/Development

- Paraplegic Ambulation Assistive Device – New Orleans, LA (1990-1999), Developed FDA IDE submissions.
- Transcutaneous Electrical Stimulation Devices – (1988-1992), Participated in International Committee writing standards for design of devices.
- Biomaterials Testing – New Orleans, LA (2002-2004), Developed and executed programs for biomaterials testing under Good Laboratory Practices Certification requirements.

Forensic Engagements

• Biomechanical Investigations

- Sierra Vista, AZ (2016) Recreated crash and used occupant modeling to evaluate internal tissue loads and injury potential.
- Augusta, GA (2009), Analyzed effect of seatbelt on injury from high speed rollover accident.
- CityRobert, LA (2009), Determined fatality-inducing event in multiple-impact accident.
- Chicago, IL (2005), Evaluated manufacturer claims about design infringement.
- New Orleans, LA (2006), Determined cause of failure in medical device case – design vs. installation vs. maintenance vs. misuse.
- Winter Haven, FL (2009), Evaluated dynamics of a roller coaster occupant when individual stood up and fell from the ride.
- Laurel, MS (2012), Evaluated effect of lack of hard hat on brain injuries due to falling valve
- Texas City, TX (2012) Evaluated circumstances of a high-end vehicle that was driven into a salt marsh.

• Expert Witness/Testimony

- Texas, Testified in multiple cases regarding injuries sustained during events, including cases of murder and suicide.

Professional Experience

• Rimkus Consulting Group, Inc.

2005 – Present

- Officer – Biomedical Engineering and Biomechanics Division
Provides consulting services to insurance carriers, law firms, and corporate clients. Evaluates and analyzes biomechanical systems, including voluntary and involuntary human motions. Provides human-injury impact analysis in vehicular accidents, amusement park ride accidents, and cases involving falls or falling objects. Performs occupant motion studies to determine injury potential/consistency, seatbelt use, the effects of airbag interaction, and determination of occupant positions. Uses both computer and physical models to reconstruct those accidents and to measure the load and injury levels. Evaluates medical device and hospital equipment failures and malfunctions. Provides technical oversight to biomedical engineering and biomechanics division.

- Louisiana State University School of Medicine 1988 – 2004
 - * Professor of Orthopedic Surgery/Director of Rehabilitative Engineering
Primary areas of research included multiple aspects of orthopedic research and rehabilitative engineering. Integrated all aspects of research processes to address basic, applied, and clinical orthopedic topics. Performed collaborative research with other intramural departments and outside academic and industrial institutions. Developed, implemented in the clinical setting and wrote FDA IDE submissions for paraplegic ambulation assistive device. Lectured to medical students, orthopedic surgery residents, and physical therapy students. Trained orthotists, physical therapists and physiatrists on the application and evaluation of paraplegic ambulation programs. Incorporated orthopedic surgeons into the research process from identification of study topics through to publication. Trained residents and students in research methods including experimental design, data collection, analysis, and interpretation. Participated in International Committee writing standards for transcutaneous electrical stimulation devices. Integrated 11 diverse research projects into a center grant, then served as co-director (de-facto operations manager). Participated in departmental and university-wide committees. Designed, planned and implemented a research rotation for orthopedic residents. Developed and executed programs for biomaterials testing under Good Laboratory Practices Certification requirements
- Tulane University School of Engineering 1990 – 1997
 - * Adjunct Assistant Professor – Biomedical Engineering
Supervised and mentored engineering student through research projects, as part of ongoing and collaborative research. Student projects were at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Education and Certifications

- Biomedical Engineering, Ph.D.: Tulane University (1989)
- Biomedical Engineering, M.S.: Tulane University (1986)
- Biomedical Engineering and Mathematics, B.S.: Tulane University, Magna Cum Laude (1984)
- Certified Accident Reconstructionist: Accreditation Commission for Traffic Accident Reconstruction (ACTAR #1683)
- Bosch Certified Crash Data Retrieval Technician and Analyst
- Registered Professional Engineer: Texas (#100978), Florida (#70049), Louisiana (#34792), Illinois (#062.061946), New York (#087619), Indiana (#10911206), Georgia (#037772), and Mississippi (#20899)

Continuing Education

- Institute for Police Technology and Management: Motorcycle Crash Investigation (2011); Pedestrian and Bicycle Accident Investigation (2009); Traffic Crash Reconstruction (2005)
- Society of Automotive Engineers: Vehicle Frontal Crash Occupant Safety and CAE (2007) Vehicle and Occupant Kinematics in Rollovers (2005); Injuries, Biomechanics and Federal Regulation (2005);
- Bosch: Crash Data Retrieval Technician Course (2008, 2012);
- Northwestern University Center for Public Safety: Crash Reconstruction Utilizing Human Factors (2013); Traffic Accident Investigation (2005); Advanced
- Other: ARC-CSI Crash Test Boot Camp (2017); HVE User's Forum (2015); Crash Data Retrieval Data Analyst Course, Collision Safety Institute (2014); Electronic Data Recorder Course (2012); OSHA Fatal Accidents and Prevention, Red Vector Online University (2011)

Publications

- Author or co-author of 100 scientific journal articles, and over 150 additional publications in various book chapters, proceedings, and transactions, as well as over 140 scientific paper or poster presentations at local, national and international meetings
